Trinity Lutheran Home Now Trinity on Laurens

For the past decade Trinity Lutheran Home has been an Aiken name synonymous with faith-based, quality care for seniors. Since opening in 1997, over 650 older adults from all denominations have called the beautiful building on the corner of Laurens and Barnwell Streets their home. As Trinity Lutheran Home transitions into their second decade of service to the Aiken community, a new name, one that honors their church affiliation and recognizes their desirable downtown location has been selected. From this point forward, Trinity Lutheran Home will be known as Trinity on Laurens. Connie Henrich, Administrator notes that in selecting the new name, “it was important to maintain and honor Trinity’s proud history while reflecting a more contemporary name that appeals to an active senior population. The new name also assures that Trinity welcomes people of all faiths and beliefs.”

“All that has changed is part of our name. The most important components of Trinity- our affiliation with Lutheran Homes of South Carolina, our happy residents, prime location, and reputation for wonderful staff who provide excellent care remain the same,” said Henrich. Just as the name Trinity Lutheran Home was synonymous with faith based, quality care for seniors from 1997 – 2009, Trinity on Laurens will carry on this proud tradition well into the future.

Trinity on Laurens is a ministry of Lutheran Homes of South Carolina a non-profit organization that operates five Continuing Care Retirement Communities across South Carolina. In addition, Lutheran Homes offers Lutheran Hospice and Be Well Home Services, a non-medical in-home service company.
